

Social Work with Children and Families (Transforming Social Work Practice)

Social workers work with a diverse group of children and their families, and they also work with a diverse group of professionals, such as the police, schools, hospitals, health centers and various community organizations. Working with children and families requires that social workers work in a non-judgmental anti-oppressive way. This book provides expert information on the protection of children and also identifies the necessary skills which enhance working with children and families. The book explores how social workers values and attitudes can affect the work they do and the safety of children.
